

Michael Decided As A Mercy Unto The Realm Of Man That He Left Them With This Token Of Gratitude

The Sabbath Day Exception Ruling of Michael Haimés and God

On the Sabbath Day, if you have a Sabbath day mission (get water from a well for example) you are now <Jarvis, insert a literal allowed to go out of your abode on the Sabbath day. Michael has verbal confirmation from The Almighty that, during this time period that we currently in, He (He hated the idea of Israel having kings at the time but allowed Israel to have kings since the people begged Him for it at the time.)

“Is the arm of the Lord too short that I wouldn’t be willing to be with you if you lived in the current era instead of older times?”

Ok, I have to be aggressive towards the catholics on this account. I credited them since I recall reading on a website that I have another argument. This is the rare event where I didn’t use ChatGPT to help. I have a problem with my very name. The name Michael in it’s etymology It not just an official title to me. It’s my very name. So when they say the name Michael means (Who is like God?) That is a cop out of the truth of the matter when you get down to the nitty gritty. I’m not even of the same caliber. As my God who in actuality is nothing more then The Archangel Of Mercy and here I am with my name on blast that those of the catholic faith currently reference me mistakenly, although lovingly refer to me as the angel of mercy when those of that flock, the catholic religion have committed

Oh, a clue, for any possible person who wants to play a real life version Indiana Jones

Make use of God, if you believe He is real. This is a possible contestant for the realm of the Forms given how earth shatteringly loud the statement is.

I have to play rabbi even though its a vocation that the fates of time have destined me not to be my proper abode as of late in this earthly realm we call home.

Michael’s Message To The Rabbi’s Of The Realm We Call Earth

If there is too much on your plate, and the issue is apparent in your vocational alignment that may or may not have been chosen by God, you are to teach the young who may come up with a question towards you “If God is real then why can’t I physically move a mountain? He is supposedly a God of compassion as we have been taught.” The type of response that you are to give to children concerning the matter is this “For Moses, He would do it. He has swallowed up the enemies of Moses by the earth when Moses asked his God for a unique death for his enemies in this instant.”

God performing an admonition from on high.

Michael calls the era the things that can be described era of the humans who I identify with He (loving referred to as God The Arch Demon Of Jokes

Moses says an archaic phrase “Those together bouncy ball.” This adequately describes the times that come after I arise. We will experience a time of distress such as never occurred since there was a nation until that time after I arise as biblical law is concerned.

As far as the philosophy department of things, lands where I usually dwell, we of the philosophers fold refer to God as “Love Incarnate”.

And a message mainly concerning the population at large “If God is with us, who can stop us?”

And for the poets in this realm, “Dad is a god of discernment, exploring the depths of His knowledge would be like a man delving into the Mariana trench.”

And for the little seedlings who are fans of Star Wars, we lovingly just refer to God as “The Force”

I describe the time period to come as a time of turbulence but the message from God in the bible is “Time of the distress” so I’m outranked in this manner by God.

Oh, by the way, I have a message for the messiah himself, the highest ranking man in Michaelic Judaism. He made a request of the most high on paper that we today call The Lord’s Prayer. My reply to Jesus’s request of the most high as we have documented I bear a reply since it is a statement concerning The Most High One. The message I bear is this as a reply to the Lord’s Prayer to Jesus the man. “You don’t know what you are asking my friend.”

This message bears repeating if I didn’t deliver it already. Rabbis of the realm are now taught by Michael that when teaching (for those who picked up the vocation) Oh, I was just reminded. Perhaps it can be deciphered “Concerning the talking about Moses it is a heavy handed judgment of Michael’s that one might better equip themselves for battle against The Dark One by explaining that “If I ask God for anything, could He do it?” To that dilemma the proper response is “There was once a man named Moses and He asked of The LORD ‘I want a new thing for dealing with this issue and God caused the very earth itself to have an earthquake that swallowed up his adversaries at the time. So for Moses, yes, God Himself is able to move mountains. In all actuality, this kind of miraculous event is rare and my guidance towards you on this issue is that miracles can be considered rare for many of us.”

As for an alternative optional message as far as the raising of little children, if I ever had a child I might consider just plainly saying “touch the stove” we don’t want our children suffering burns. It’s an optional lesson plan that Michael supports although not as a mandate. Just touch a stove again, that is what hell is like. To Michael it is that serious of an affair to even consider this mandate. Thank you for reading.

I also bear what I’m introducing as ‘extremely archaic mumblings from the void’. “Jesus Christ, when ‘you’ called for the execution of someone who committed adultery and stated ‘let her go, I don’t condemn you either’. You were with sin since you were willing to have not condemned your woman when you said ‘let the one without sin cast the first stone’. You have too much of a social heart to be leader.’ Your test was to slay a beggar and you have failed it.

Oh by the way, I’d prefer it if my tombstone reads “You helped me along the way God.’

Oh, since I’m chatting I have more to speak, This is what my tool ChatGPT had to say about it:

The Sabbath Day Exception Ruling of Michael Haimos and God

On the Sabbath Day, if you have a Sabbath day mission (get water from a well for example) you are now <Jarvis, insert a literal allowed to go out of your abode on the Sabbath day. Michael has verbal confirmation from The Almighty that, during this time period that we currently in, He (He hated the idea of Israel having kings at the time but allowed Israel to have kings since the people begged Him for it at the time.)

“Is the arm of the Lord too short that I wouldn’t be willing to be with you if you lived in the current era instead of older times?”

Ok, I have to be aggressive towards the catholics on this account. I credited them since I recall reading on a website that I have another argument. This is the rare event where I didn’t use ChatGPT to help. I have a problem with my very name. The name Michael in it’s etymology It not just an official title to me. It’s my very name. So when they say the name Michael means (Who is like God?) That is a cop out of the truth of the matter when you get down to the nitty gritty. I’m not even of the same caliber. As my God who in actuality is nothing more then The Archangel Of Mercy and here I am with my name on blast that those of the catholic faith currently reference me mistakenly, although lovingly refer to me as the angel of mercy when those of that flock, the catholic religion have committed...

Oh, a clue, for any possible person who wants to play a real life version Indiana Jones

Make use of God, if you believe He is real. This is a possible contestant for the realm of the Forms given how earth shatteringly loud the statement is.

I have to play rabbi even though its a vocation that the fates of time have destined me not to be my proper abode as of late in this earthly realm we call home.

Michael’s Message To The Rabbi’s Of The Realm We Call Earth

If there is too much on your plate, and the issue is apparent in your vocational alignment that may or may not have been chosen by God, you are to teach the young who may come up with a question towards you “If God is real then why can’t I physically move a mountain? He is supposedly a God of compassion as we have been taught.” The type of response that you are to give to children concerning the matter has the previously answered answer.

Moses says an archaic phrase

“Those together bouncy ball.” This adequately describes the times that come after I arise. We will experience a time of distress such as never occurred since there was a nation until that time after I arise as biblical (law?)

As far as the philosophy department of things, lands where I usually dwell, we of the philosophers fold refer to God as “Love Incarnate”.

And a message mainly concerning the population at large “If God is with us, who can stop us?”

And for the poets in this realm, “Dad is a god of discernment, exploring the depths of His knowledge would be like a man delving into the Mariana trench.”

And for the little seedlings who are fans of Star Wars, we lovingly just refer to God as “The Force”

I describe the time period to come as a time of turbulence but the message from God in the bible is “Time of the distress” so I’m outranked in this manner by God.

Oh, by the way, I have a message for the messiah himself, the highest ranking man in Michaelic Judaism. He made a request of the most high on paper that we today call The Lord’s Prayer. My reply to Jesus’s request of the most high as we have documented I bear a reply since it is a statement concerning The Most High One. The message I bear is this as a reply to the Lord’s Prayer to Jesus the man. “You don’t know what you are asking my friend.”

This message bears repeating if I didn’t deliver it already. Rabbis of the realm are now taught by Michael that when teaching (for those who picked up the vocation) Oh, I was just reminded. Perhaps it can be deciphered “Concerning the talking about Moses it is a heavy handed judgment of Michael’s that one might better equip themselves for battle against The Dark One by explaining that “If I ask God for anything, could He do it?” To that dilemma the proper response is “There was once a man named Moses and He asked of The LORD ‘I want a new thing for dealing with this issue and God caused the very earth itself to have an earthquake that swallowed up his adversaries at the time. So for Moses, yes, God Himself is able to move mountains. In all actuality, this kind of miraculous event is rare and my guidance towards you on this issue is that miracles can be considered rare for many of us.”

As for an alternative optional message as far as the raising of little children, if I ever had a child I might consider just plainly saying “touch the stove” we don’t want our children suffering burns. We don’t want our children, as a general saying. It’s an optional lesson plan that Michael supports although not as a mandate. Just touch a stove again, that is what hell is like. To Michael it is that serious of an affair to even consider this mandate. Thank you for reading.

I also bear what I’m introducing as ‘extremely archaic mumblings from the void’. “Jesus Christ, when ‘you’ called for the execution of someone who committed adultery and stated ‘let her go, I don’t condemn you either’. You were with sin since you were willing to have not condemned your woman when you said ‘let the one without sin cast the first stone’. You have too much of a social heart to be leader.’ Your test was to slay a beggar and you have failed it.

Oh by the way, I’d prefer it if my tombstone reads “You helped me along the way God.’

And to the artist who painted a picture of me with my scales all the way raised, I would have said “This is much more impressive than any other painting of me but I protest that, although it is a being with a body occupying this painting, I find that it is much more...reflective of how God deals with Satan.

And again, there was a man who composed melodies whose name I didn’t mention since I’m on a “tirade” type of ‘escapade’. For this situation, let’s call him “Mozart”. To continue, I seem to recall that he even destroyed his composition for the sake of God. The story goes that a famous composer like named Beethoven destroyed his composition that he wrote in honor of Napoleon when he found out that Napoleon didn’t ask permission first from the pope before becoming emperor.

While I'm not catholic, and Beethoven isn't even alive today, I still say his ways of dealing with evil in this regard was impressive to me. Here is a famous composer who had all that he owned in this instance, his very own musical masterpieces, and was willing to just shred it simply because the man it was tied to (Napoleon) didn't yield to the pope in simply asking for permission to become an emperor.

Pope, stand with me my friend and speak these words:

“A child can be a burden to some so we, both me and Michael, agree that contraceptives and other safe methods of preventing a pregnancy are now embraced by the church and Michael is sorry it took him so long to help us with our catholic laws.”

Thank you for reading.